

Teignmouth

GROUP TRAVEL ITINERARY

DISCOVER TEIGNMOUTH

Teignmouth is a vibrant seaside town with plenty to offer groups and coach visitors, combining beautiful coastal scenery with a rich maritime heritage, independent shops, galleries, great local pubs and delicious Devon food and drink. With its compact town centre, scenic seafront and atmospheric Back Beach, many of the town's highlights are easily explored on foot..

From sampling local spirits at Exeter Gin and discovering Teignmouth's creative arts scene, to enjoying live entertainment at Pavilions Teignmouth or relaxing with a drink overlooking the estuary, Teignmouth offers something for every group. Add an overnight stay at the Cliffden Hotel and you have the perfect base for discovering the town and wider South Devon.

For more information on group travel in Teignmouth and the rest of South Devon please visit www.visitsouthdevon.co.uk/grouptravel

SUGGESTED GROUP ITINERARY

Morning – Coach arrival and drop-off

Arrive in Teignmouth and drop passengers close to the town centre, allowing the group to begin exploring on foot.

For coach operators, the East Cliff Car Park & Coach Park is a useful coach parking option on Dawlish Road.

The town centre, seafront, independent shops, galleries and pubs are all within easy walking distance, making Teignmouth particularly attractive for groups who want to explore without having to rely on the coach throughout the day.

Coach operators should check current parking arrangements and restrictions before arrival.

Late morning – Explore Teignmouth's independent arts scene

Teignmouth has a surprisingly vibrant arts community and makes an excellent destination for groups interested in art, illustration and independent galleries.

A visit to the Teignmouth Arts Quarter provides an opportunity to explore a cluster of creative businesses and galleries around Somerset Place and Northumberland Place.

Highlights could include:

- Voyage Art – an independent gallery showcasing original artwork and creative work, located within the Arts Quarter.
- Laura Wall Art & Illustration – the studio and gallery of Devon artist and illustrator Laura Wall, offering visitors the opportunity to discover her distinctive artwork and illustrations. Laura Wall Art and Illustration
- Teignmouth Arts Action Group (TAAG) – a community-focused arts organisation helping to promote and support the local arts scene and exhibitions in the town.

It's strongly advised that you pre-book your visits to discover the best discounts & availability!

For more information on group travel in Teignmouth and the rest of South Devon please visit www.visitsouthdevon.co.uk/grouptravel

Lunch

Teignmouth offers plenty of appealing options for a relaxed group lunch, with everything from a traditional seaside café to restaurants with spectacular coastal views.

The Venus Cafe is located right on Teignmouth's seafront and is a great choice for groups looking for a relaxed lunch with a view. The family-run Venus Company focuses on tasty, wholesome food with a strong commitment to sustainability, while the menu includes seafood, burgers, tacos and plant-based options.

For something a little more special, The View at Pavilions Teignmouth offers panoramic views across the coastline from its first-floor restaurant and terrace. It provides an excellent setting for a leisurely group lunch, with an all-day menu and drinks, and is particularly convenient when combined with a visit to a performance or event at Pavilions.

Afternoon – Exeter Gin Experience

Next stop is Exeter Gin, located at Broadmeadow Industrial Estate in Teignmouth – an ideal addition for groups interested in local food and drink.

Despite its name, Exeter Gin is based in Teignmouth and offers a distillery, bar and gin school, providing an opportunity for groups to discover how gin is made and learn more about the craft behind the spirit.

A group visit could incorporate a gin tasting, distillery experience or gin school, subject to availability and advance booking.

Evening – Dinner & a Teignmouth pub

After dinner, groups could enjoy a relaxed evening in one of Teignmouth's traditional pubs on the famous Back Beach.

Teignmouth's Back Beach is one of the town's most atmospheric areas, sitting alongside the Teign Estuary with views across the water towards Shaldon and inland towards the hills of South Devon. It is a lovely place for groups to relax, enjoy a local drink and soak up the town's traditional seaside and fishing heritage.

A particular highlight is Ship Inn, a traditional waterside pub on Queen Street. Its outdoor seating area looks directly across the estuary towards Shaldon, making it an ideal spot for a leisurely drink or meal while watching the boats on the river. The pub serves a range of ales, ciders and wines, with locally sourced seafood featuring among its food offering.

For groups, the Back Beach provides an excellent opportunity to incorporate an informal "Teignmouth Pub Experience" into an itinerary – perhaps following a visit to Exeter Gin or as part of an evening after dinner at the Cliffden Hotel.

ADDITIONAL GROUP FRIENDLY ACTIVITIES

Pavilions Teignmouth

Head towards the seafront for a visit to Pavilions Teignmouth.

The Pavilions is Teignmouth's seafront entertainment venue, providing a programme of live performances, theatre, music, comedy, cinema and community events.

For a group itinerary, the visit could be built around a scheduled performance, film or other event. Alternatively, groups could combine a visit to the Pavilions with time on the seafront and in the town.

The venue has flat access through the seafront-facing entrance, making it suitable for visitors with accessibility requirements.

GROUP ACCOMMODATION

The Cliffden Hotel is set on Dawlish Road, overlooking seven acres of gardens and Eastcliff Park, with the sea beyond. The hotel is around a ten-minute walk from Teignmouth railway station and approximately five minutes from the beach.

For groups travelling by coach, the hotel is particularly useful because limited coach parking is available on site, subject to advance arrangement.

The hotel offers accommodation, a restaurant and bar, gardens and leisure facilities, providing a convenient base for a one-night group stay.

Suggested group arrangement:
Check in, relax in the hotel grounds and enjoy a drink before dinner.

For more information on group travel in Teignmouth and the rest of South Devon please visit www.visitsouthdevon.co.uk/grouptravel

COACH & GROUP TRAVEL INFORMATION

Coach drop-off: A dedicated town-centre coach drop-off should be confirmed with the local authority/coach operator before the visit. The Pavilions advises that passengers requiring level access can be dropped outside the seafront-facing entrance on Upper Den Carriageway.

Coach parking: East Cliff Car Park & Coach Park on Dawlish Road is identified as a coach parking facility. The Cliffden Hotel also has limited on-site coach parking, but this must be arranged with the hotel in advance.

Alternative town parking: The Point Car Park is located at the end of Powderham Terrace and is the nearest car park to Pavilions Teignmouth, although coach suitability should be checked before planning a group arrival there.

For more information on group travel in Teignmouth and the rest of South Devon please visit www.visitsouthdevon.co.uk/grouptravel